Cameron Parish 4-H Seeing Green after Donation

Lake Charles, LA – The youth of Cameron Parish, and particularly those youth involved in Cameron Parish 4-H, received a leg-up on organizational projects and funding this year, thanks to a donation through the Louisiana 4-H Foundation.

Based out of Baton Rouge at the LSU Agricultural Center, the Executive Director of the Louisiana 4-H Foundation, Eric Eskew, recently came to the area to present a check for $3,000 to Ruby Miller, Assistant Extension Agent—a donation made possible by Cameron Communications through the company’s sponsorship at the 4-H Foundation’s annual golf tournament.

These funds will go to assist with operations costs and materials for projects for the youth of Cameron Parish 4-H. These projects can range from home-economics-style projects (personal finance, health and fitness, childcare and more) to outdoor activities like shooting sports, animal care and crop care.

Eric Eskew, Executive Director of the Louisiana 4-H Foundation state, “Without the support of companies like Cameron Communications, we would not have been able to have such a successful event in the Lake Charles area.” Cameron Communications Public Relations Coordinator, Trina Johnson said, “Cameron Communications is so proud to be committed to the history and enrichment of Cameron Parish, especially when it comes to the youth, and we’re looking forward to our donations continuing to enhance the quality of life for Cameron Parish 4-H, with the hopes that the projects that the youth represent continues to develop a love for the parish that we call home.”

Cameron Communications is Southwest Louisiana’s provider of Fiber technology, bringing Digital Cable, High-Speed Internet and Phone service to Calcasieu and Cameron Parishes. For more information on Cameron Communications’ donations and sponsorship policies, please visit www.camtel.com/Newsroom.
